

BREMBO: SUZUKI NEW CUSTOMER FOR ROAD BIKE CALIPERS

Brembo becomes a supplier for Suzuki also for road bikes - after years of cooperation on the MotoGP - with a new brake caliper designed especially for the new version of the GSX-R 600 and 750, the flagship Super Sport model of this Japanese manufacturer.

With this new supply, which will last for approximately three years, Brembo reconfirms its position as one of the favourite suppliers of the leading motorcycle manufacturers and strengthens its presence in the Japanese motorcycle market, where it has been working with Yamaha for some years.

In the first half of 2010, Suzuki was the third largest Japanese manufacturer in terms of sales volumes in Europe, and its models GSX-R 600 and 750 are both in the top ten Super Sport models sold in Europe.

With this new application, Brembo further consolidates its position in the new motorcycle market, adding another prestigious brand to the list of its many international customers, including: Aprilia, BMW, BRP-Bombardier Recreational Products, Ducati, Harley-Davidson, Husqvarna, KTM, Moto Guzzi, MV Augusta, Piaggio, Triumph, Yamaha.

THE PRODUCT: the front monoblock caliper M4x32, customised on the two versions of the GSX-R, the most sporting model put on the road by the Japanese manufacturer yet, contains 4 pistons of 32 mm diameter and is based on the Brembo monoblock technology, identical to the one used in MotoGP and Sbk, which, using exclusive, cutting-edge production technologies, offers a light, compact product with high stiffness.

The brake caliper M4x32 has a 108 mm mounting distance and offers high performance in terms of brake power and control.
