PURCHASING POLICY

Brembo has always based its policy on the capacity to propose continuous innovation both in product and process and in the service provided to its customers, ensuring the highest level of quality.

Brembo is also strongly committed to researching and ensuring excellence in the performance of its products. In doing so, Brembo pay the utmost attention to health, safety, environmental protection and sustainability issues both internally and among its suppliers, thus maintaining a leading role in the market and in the braking system sector. In compliance with Brembo business policy, the Purchase Policy is based on the principle of cooperation with suppliers which:

- can meet our quality requirements and who can satisfy the needs in a timely and flexible manner;
- are open to innovations and cooperate in the search for improving technical solutions;
- guarantee the level of the competitiveness required by our reference market through a Total Cost of Ownership approach (TCO).

Strategic business relationships with Group Suppliers are based on attention to performance, on trust and on stable and relationships lasting over time.

Moreover, in order to ensure global expansion and a constant growth of our business ensuring its sustainability over time, Brembo searches and develops global suppliers in support to the specific needs of different geographic areas.

Brembo is a socially responsible company, ethically correct and working in a sustainable way. The same behavioural models on issues such as human rights, health and safety at work are required for their supply chain and are the basis for the choice and evaluation of suppliers.
