BREMBO REMAINS A MAJOR PLAYER IN TRUCK RACING

FIA European Truck Racing Championship 2012: Brembo signs new agreement with team MKR Technology and renews association with Truck Sport Lutz Bernau

Brembo takes to the circuits of the FIA European Truck Championship this year as supplier to the MKR Technology and Truck Sport Lutz Bernau (TSB) racing teams.

Thanks to the success achieved last season with Lutz Bernau, winner of the team title, and to its many years of experience acquired at race circuits around the world, Brembo has been selected as official supplier of front and rear brake discs both for the Renault Premium trucks of team MKR Technology and, yet again, for the MAN TGS vehicles raced by the German team.

Brembo will be with the two teams at the most spectacular European circuits, including Istanbul — a new venue where trucks will be racing on Sunday 13 May for the first time — Misano Adriatico, the second leg of the Championship, also the Nurburgring, Smolensk (Russia), Zolder and finally, on 13 October, Le Mans, which traditionally hosts the closing race of the season.

Last year's championship saw Brembo taking on a huge challenge: attempting to win with a vehicle weighing 5,5 tonnes, powered by an engine rated 1,250 CV and capable of speeds in excess of 200 km/h (limited automatically to 160 km/h during races), using top quality brake discs fully able to meet the technical and safety requirements of the most successful Truck Racing team in Europe.
